

Bowmore 10 year old Tempest (Batch 3)

55.6%

As cask strength examples of young Bowmore — sold at a very keen price — the small-batch Tempest range is already picking up a cult following. This third release does not disappoint in the smoke department, while the nose also shows some orange zest aromas. That said, it is a little restrained, showing its youth with a pea pod-like character on the palate, while its fruits are emerging but aren't fully ripened. More of a strong breeze than a tempest.

—Vol. 21, #1