

Fitch's Goat 100% Corn Whiskey

48.5%

Sweet and a bit funky; maybe a wisp of smoke, maybe some green cornstalk, and some mint/vanilla. Rippling and vibrant in the mouth, hot and bold, and not candy-sweet at all, more like fuel-injected cornbread with a splash of burning mint eau de vie across the top. Or maybe that's just the AC/DC talking; maybe I should review to Mozart. Not bad, but I think I like the simpler unaged version.
